Walkable Neighbourhood Limerick City

Limerick city is a compact and walkable city with an abundance of great attractions that can be easily discovered on foot.

The walking map of Limerick city is based on a concept originally developed by the municipality of Pontevedra in Spain. The map is designed to resemble a traditional public transport map and presents key locations and points of interest as stops on a pedestrian network. The map displays walking times between the stops and in doing so aims to encourage users to walk and enjoy Limerick city.

This map is an initiative of Eireannachtharlear.com and an evolution of the original design by Rian Mac Giobúin. The current design of the map has been funded by Limerick City and County Council and developed by Rian Mac Giobúin in partnership with Piquant Media.
