children between the ages of 6 and 12 were introduced to the practice of yoga. They were guided through a meditation and yoga sequence and got to experiment with handmade yoga cards. On 06 July, Watch House Cross Library was delighted to welcome a group of Library and Information Science students from the University of North Carolina. The group consisted of 21 students, two faculty leaders and one International Studies Abroad (ISA) staff member. They were visiting as part of an International Studies Abroad custom programme that enables the students to understand the role and practice of librarians and archivists in other cultural contexts. They were particularly interested in our autism-friendly resource, the Sensory Room and highlighted that many US public libraries do not yet have sensory rooms. They were also keen to see the Local Studies Department, and to understand the role it plays in preserving the historical record in relation to the heritage of Limerick City and County. On 14 July, the library held a second Junior Book Club meeting for children aged 9-12. The Book Club meets once a month to discuss a book carefully selected by our Library Assistant, Michelle. The name of the Book Club was voted on, with the majority favoring the name, "How to Train Your Bookworms." The book that was selected for July was "All the Money in the World" by local author, Sarah Moore-Fitzgerald. The children discussed the book, designed their own book cover and wrote book reviews. They rated the book 3/5. Throughout the month, there were 142 visits to the Sensory Room. The weekly storytime continues every Thursday at 4pm, with new stories being shared each week, sharing the idea of reading and storytelling for pleasure.

- There were 35 onsite visits by researchers to the Local Studies Department at Watch House Cross Community Library in July. Twenty-one of these involved research on the microfilm and digital archives of local and national newspapers, and 10 on material forming part of the Local Studies and archival collections. Four visits comprised advice sessions on family history and/or research on FindMyPast. Seventeen remote queries were received and resolved. Design was completed on department's forthcoming Decade of Centenaries (DOC) publication, 'The Inevitable Conflict' Essays on the Civil War in Limerick, and work on its other DOC project, Limerick-related claims lodged with the Irish Grants Committee in the 1920s, is in train. Several new acquisitions (both books and journals) were added to stock.

Some children brought along their own instruments but Music Generation also provided an array of instruments from strings to percussion to the budding musicians and songwriters. Music Generation is a national partnership programme whose mission is to create inspiring experiences for children and young people through music and to make sure that everyone, whatever their background, gets access to music tuition. The annual "Cruinniú" exhibition continued during the month with a selection of beautiful work collected in response to an open invitation for art and craft work for inclusion. Local artists provided paintings, ceramics, photography, wood sculpture, felting, drawings, quilting and willow for all to enjoy. The branch continued with its ever-popular monthly "Little Readers" session with a fun-filled, friendly, inclusive session of storytelling, song, rhymes and chat geared towards younger members. Limerick Pride Week was celebrated with a colourful in-house display of some of the books available from the Children's Books Ireland and An Post 'Rainbow Reads' collection with stories that focus on individuality and inclusion.
- In Adare Library, the Parent and Toddler Group met on two occasions during the month. The Mosaic exhibition, organised in collaboration with local Women's Shed (2020 Club), is still attracting visitors and admirers.
- Dooradoyle Library has recently been awarded an Age Friendly Status by Age Friendly Ireland. Staff members, Ciara Barry and Geraldine Byrne, have been named as Age Friendly champions. To gain recognition

As an Age Friendly branch, the library has continued to engage with active retirement groups in the community to promote library services. Staff have also been trained as Library Digital ambassadors and the library has an events space to facilitate Age-Friendly talks and events. As part of the Summer programme of events, Dooradoyle Library recently hosted 'Rosie's Animal Magic', an exciting opportunity to get up close to Rosie's treasured animals including lizards, birds and other exotic creatures and learn how to care for and appreciate these amazing animals. The event was preceded by a story-time session and there were approx. 100 people in attendance on the day. Other events include regular Arts and Crafts and story-time sessions during the summer months.

- A special exhibition entitled '2022 Road to Croke Park' on display in the Library showcases the Limerick Senior Hurlers' 2022 All-Ireland win. The exhibition has been an almost yearly feature at Dooradoyle Library since 2018 and is a great way for children to learn the history of the two teams featured in the final. The Limerick Leader featured an article on this exhibition in one of their recent publications dated 25 July.
- On 07 and 14 July, two groups from the Student Campus English Language School in Limerick City visited the City Library. Each group of students is training to improve their English Language skills and their Library tour and accompanying introduction to all its services is an important element in their studies. The Sahaja Yoga meditation meetings continued throughout July with the free weekly sessions taking place every Tuesday evening at 6.00p.m. The Writepace Creative Writing Group also held its bi-monthly meetings with sessions on 21 and 23 July.
- Newcastle West Library created a number of Book/Board Displays during the month. "Fleadh Cheoil na Mumhan 2022," Limerick County Board of Comhaltas in Newcastle West, hosted the event this year. The display gave a brief history of the Fleadh, which celebrates our Irish Cultural Traditions. The town of Newcastle West is steeped in tradition and previously hosted 'Fleadh Cheoil na Mumhan' in 2007 and 1965. The branch put together an informative and colourful display for the All Ireland Hurling Final featuring a brief history of the game of hurling, information on the Limerick Senior Team and Management, and their road to the final. Members were very happy to show their support for the Limerick Team by adding their name to the interactive Promethean screen. The Branch welcomed visits from the following community groups during the month: weekly visits by friends from the Brothers of Charity, Patrons from St. Ita's Community Hospital Nursing Home and Rathfredagh Cheshire Home.

Limerick City Gallery of Art (LCGA)

- PULSE, a significant new initiative by Limerick City Gallery of Art (LCGA), opened on 21 July. This exhibition presents the work of sixteen emerging artists who graduated from a recognised Irish College of Art between 2017 and 2021. An Open Call had been issued and 133 artists applied. Patrick Murphy, Director of the Royal Hibernian Academy (RHA), Artist, Aideen Barry and Director/Curator LCGA, Úna McCarthy, made the final selection. The artists are graduates from all the main colleges in Ireland and this is a very exciting and fresh introduction to divergent practices and subject matter of these artists.
- In addition to the opportunity to exhibit in a high-profile visual arts institution, there were a number of awards, including three monetary awards from the Irish Research Council: €1,000 to Judy Foley and €500 each to Daniel Murray and Jonathan O' Grady. Limerick Printmakers awarded a six-month membership to Nicola Sheehan, and LCGA purchased a piece by Artist, Shane Hynan, which will be included in the Permanent Collection. There was a great turnout of over 150 people on the night and the response from visitors was overwhelmingly enthusiastic. It is hoped that we can introduce this open submission opportunity for emerging artists as the opportunities for them have significantly reduced over the last decade.
- Arno Kramer's exhibition, In Time, finished on 10 July and was de-installed and packed for shipment to Holland the following week. 6,932 visitors saw the exhibition over its eight-week run with some very favourable comments.

- The Test Space residency, with a dance artist/choreographer and architect, finished with a performance of their research, which was attended by an invited audience of 15 persons.
- LCGA marked Limerick Gay Pride Week (GPW) with the 'Irish Names Quilt' Exhibition from 04-17 July, which went on display in conjunction with Gender, Orientation and Sexual Health (GOSH), Limerick. This event attracted a very large number of visitors (332) on the day of the Limerick Pride march. This was the first time LCGA collaborated with GPW and marks an important development of our commitment to our nascent Equality Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) policy.
- LCGA continued to display a selection of watercolours and drawings, including work by Percy French, Walter Verling, and Mainie Jellet amongst many other artists. In the upper floor galleries, there is a selection of more recent acquisitions demonstrating the breadth of the Collection and its importance to supporting artists throughout their careers.
- Preparations for our Autumn programme are well advanced and will include the upcoming 80th anniversary of Limerick Arts Society, and "Remember Jim Kemmy," to mark the 25th anniversary of the death of the well-known politician.

Limerick Museum

- Limerick Museum's latest exhibition, 'A Woman's Culm,' by Pauline O'Connell, was launched by Councillor Olivia O'Sullivan, Cathaoirleach of the Metropolitan District of Limerick, on 14 July, and ran for the remainder of the month. It was a 17-minute artistic film, which commemorated rural women and the importance they played during the Irish Revolution. Culm is the coal dust that was a by-product of coal mining. In many places, it was used to make culm balls, which were a common domestic fuel. In the coal mining districts of Castlecomer, Co. Kilkenny, these culm balls were known as 'bombs.' 'A Woman's Culm' is a short artistic film, which centres on the upland areas of the Castlecomer Plateaux, and makes visible rural women's day-to-day struggles during Ireland's War of Independence era. By 'keeping the home fires burning,' women not only maintained the home and family, but they also provided support to the 600+ men of the Castlecomer Battalion. The women's tasks included administering first aid, message carrying, weapons carrying, secrecy and providing safe houses to those on the run, and keeping equilibrium in the face of the unknown.

- Focusing on the relationship between rural women's personal struggle for survival, Pauline O'Connell used the camera lens as a witnessing device to mediate rural women's less visible role at a time when the broader struggle for independence for communities was sought 100 years ago. Through the cultural practice of 'culm' making - unique to coal mining areas - the women's hands became the fighting tools and 'buns,' 'bungs,' 'bumbs,' or 'culm bombs' became the measure of that labour, a material object that embeds resilience, self-sustainability and commemoration alike. 'A Woman's Culm' formed part of the County Kilkenny's Decade of Centenaries Programme and Limerick Museum was delighted to see it form part of the Limerick Decade of Centenaries Programme. This is the first time that Limerick Museum has hosted a film since it inaugurated its very successful exhibition series five years ago.
- On 22 July, the Museum hosted another pioneering event, where Pauline O'Connell held a public conversation with Dr Sinéad McCool, the Limerick-born historian, author, broadcaster, script writer and exhibition curator, who has collaborated closely with Limerick Museum and Limerick Library Service for many years, particularly in relation to the Decade of Centenaries Programme.

Community Sustainment Unit

The Community Sustainment Unit is comprised of three main strands: (i) Estate Support (ii) Individual Tenant Support and (iii) Tenancy Enforcement/Anti-Social Behaviour.

1. Estate Support

- The main aim of this programme is the provision of supports with a view to improving quality of life and developing community spirit within Council estates. To this end, the Unit works closely with existing residents' associations and encourages the formation of new such groups, supporting the implementation of key actions identified by them to improve their estates. The support provided varies from assistance in provision of minor infrastructural works such as fencing, walls, signage etc. to softer measures such as committee skills training, contributing towards clean-up days, events for children etc.
- On 06 July, members of the Community Sustainment Team worked alongside the residents of Cois Má, Croom, upgrading the flower beds and installing kerbing in their estate.

2. Individual Tenant Support

The Unit provides a service, supported by the Housing Welfare Officer, of intensive support for tenants who may be identified as vulnerable or in need of such help for any other reason. In addition, there is monitoring of individual tenancies that may require particular attention to prevent problems occurring. There is an ongoing programme to reach out to all tenants in Council estates. During the month of July, 118 of these visits were carried out by the Community Sustainment Officers.

Tenancy Induction training is provided for all newly-appointed tenants. Among other things, the terms of the Letting Agreements which are signed are clearly explained so that the obligations of both the tenants and, indeed, the Council are clearly understood. Eight such inductions took place during July.

3. Tenancy Enforcement/Anti-Social Behaviour

- The Unit deals with in excess of 400 complaints each year, with approximately half of these relating to anti-social behaviour. The Council's policy is to respond to these issues quickly and firmly and it works in close co-operation with An Garda Síochána where necessary. The number of active cases at the end of July was 172. The number of cases closed during July was 33. The Community Sustainment Team secured possession of seven Council properties during the month of July following death of tenant, abandonment of property or other particular circumstances.
- The Unit carries out formal Garda checks on prospective new tenants. 74 such formal reviews were undertaken during July.

3. UPDATES

Repair and Leasing Scheme Pilot - Expansion of Scheme for Vacant Commercial Properties

An expansion to the Repair and Leasing Scheme (RLS) removes the requirement that a property owner must be unable to fund or access funding to bring vacant properties into compliance with the Housing (Standards for Rented Houses) Regulations, 2019.

This modification applies to certain categories of vacant properties only:

- Vacant commercial properties.
- Vacant units associated with a commercial property (e.g. over a shop).
- Vacant former institutional buildings.
- Unfinished developments where these have been vacant for a significant period of time.

The existing RLS criteria remain for all other dwellings. This expansion is on a pilot basis. Approval must be granted by the Local Authority or Department of Housing, Local Government and Heritage, where appropriate. Enquiries to housingeoi@limerick.ie

Targeted Leasing Initiative

The Targeted Leasing Initiative was launched on 15 July by means of an Expression of Interest (EOI) for submissions to The Housing Agency. The EOI invites proposers to indicate their capacity to provide proposals with a minimum of 20 and a maximum of 150 properties in a Local Authority area for the purposes of the initiative below:

- Facilitate and expedite additional permanent social housing;
- Provide additional supply targeted at areas of greatest need; and
- Prioritise State support for homes aligned with the needs of the social housing waiting list.

Proposers have two options under which to submit proposals as part of the EOI:

Option 1: Standard leasing with a maximum term of 25 years, with proposers to submit proposals for discount to market rents over and above the standard leasing terms (15/20%) currently in operation.

Option 2: Standard leasing up to a maximum of 30 years for the standard discount (15/20%) currently in operation with transfer of the leased properties to the Local Authority at the end of the lease term at a discount to the open market value of the leased properties. Proposers will be required to submit a proposed percentage discount on the future open market value of the leased properties.

The initiative is being carried out via an EOI issued via www.etenders.gov.ie.
